Bringing hope to Syrian children

Donations in aid of the charity's work with children in Syria

Saturday 20th October 2018 – 7:30pm

The Awareness Foundation is an ecumenical Christian charity. For 15 years, it has been our mission to build peace around the world through education. We believe that empowered Christians with a deep, personal and informed faith are best equipped to build bridges with members of other faiths, spread God's love in their day to day lives, and build peaceful communities in our fractured world. We have also built fruitful partnerships with a large number of organisations that represent other faiths, offering an authentic Christian voice at their conferences and discussions. The Foundation was founded in 2003 by The Revd Nadim Nassar, the only Syrian priest in the Church of England. Nadim's first book, "The Culture of God", was published by Hodder and Stoughton this year.

Bringing hope to Syrian children

Little Heroes is a series of 3- to 5-day events for displaced and local Christian children, aged 6 to 12, in Syria. We enable and inspire the children to come to terms with all that has happened to them in the Syrian Civil War, helping them to develop a positive outlook and to look to the future with hope and faith. Through counselling, teaching, play and prayer, the children become Little Heroes, ready to make friends with those who are different, to show love and acceptance, and to celebrate difference. The program is for children of every denomination, and children of other faiths are always welcome. More than 2,000 Syrian children have already become Little Heroes.
